SCOPE OF THE CONTEST

The contest is defined by industry standards as set by the current industry technical committee. The contest will be divided into three parts: general knowledge test, re-creation of a developed advertisement and a creative design challenge. The theme, size, product and number of colors for each of the skilled components will be standardized.

Knowledge Performance

The contest will include a written exam assessing general knowledge of advertising design. Definitions, file types, processes and procedures relevant to advertising design will be assessed. Written portions may also exist during the skills portion of the contest.

Skill Performance

The skill performance portion of the contest will be divided into two parts: design an existing advertisement and a design challenge.

Contest Guidelines

1. The first part of the contest requires a redesign of an existing advertisement using contest-supplied software.
2. The second part of the contest is a creative section presenting contestants with a design challenge to complete in the time allotted. All three stages of the creative process must be followed: thumbnails, roughs and the comprehensive stage. Contestants will create their design solutions both by hand and on the computer.
3. The theme, size, product and number of colors will be standardized. Indication of headlines, body copy and logo art for the comprehensive may be lifted from the repro sheets supplied by the technical committee.

4. Contestants will not be allowed to use any reference materials that are not supplied by the technical committee.

Language Arts Standards

- Students read a wide range of print and nonprint texts to build an understanding of texts, of themselves and of the cultures of the United States and the world; to acquire new information; to respond to the needs and demands of society and the workplace; and for personal fulfillment. Among these texts are fiction and nonfiction, classic and contemporary works
- Students apply a wide range of strategies to comprehend, interpret, evaluate and appreciate texts. They draw on their prior experience, their interactions with other readers and writers, their knowledge of word meaning and of other texts, their word identification strategies and their understanding of textual features (e.g., sound-letter correspondence, sentence structure, context, graphics)
- Students adjust their use of spoken, written and visual language (e.g., conventions, style, vocabulary) to communicate effectively with a variety of audiences and for different purposes
- Students apply knowledge of language structure, language conventions (e.g., spelling and punctuation), media techniques, figurative language and genre to create, critique and discuss print and nonprint texts
- Students conduct research on issues and interests by generating ideas and questions and by posing problems. They gather, evaluate and synthesize data from a variety of sources (e.g., print and nonprint texts, artifacts, people) to communicate their discoveries in ways that suit their purpose and audience
- Students use a variety of technological and information resources (e.g., libraries, databases, computer networks and video) to gather and synthesize information and to create and communicate knowledge
- Students participate as knowledgeable, reflective, creative and critical members of a variety of literacy communities
- Students use spoken, written and visual language to accomplish their own purposes (e.g., for learning, enjoyment, persuasion and the exchange of information)
